LORD SACKVILLE'S LETTER.

The British Minister Condemned for His Indiscreet Interference in American Politics.

Secretary Bayard Says the Presidential Election can be Settled Without Foreign Intermeddling.

Lord Sackville States That the Whole Affair was Planned for the Purpose of Entrapping Him.

(Special to THE COLONIST.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Secretary Bayard returned to Washington last night and to-day stated in reply to an inquiry made to him about the letter of a Mr. Murchison of California, to the British Minister, and the reply of the latter on the subject of the pending presidential election: "Yes, I have read both letters. I have not seen the British Minister since he went to Europe last spring until he called on me this morning at the Department of State. Lord Sackville has no other or better means of knowledge of the intentions of the President than anyone of the sixty-five millions of American people. His personal opinion is worth no more than that of anyone of them on the ground of knowledge and much less on the ground of interest on the subject. While there must be a consensus of opinion as to the impropriety of expression of individual views by anyone holding the position of foreign envoy, it is still to be hoped that we will be able to settle the issues involved in the pending canvass without the importation of or intermeddling in our domestic affairs. The American people will be prompt to resent and repel as impertinent any such attempts, but they will easily recognize the political pitfall arranged by the California letter with its object so plainly stamped on its face, and addressed to the British minister, into which he has so surprisingly tumbled. Such petty schemes to break the fall of despairing politicians will be held in its proper estimation by popular intelligence.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Lord Sackville was seated in his office to-night when a representative of the United Press called to ask him if he had seen Mr. Bayard's statement. His Lordship had been busy with some official correspondence, but he brushed that aside and read with much deliberation and very apparent unconcern the secretary's statement. When he had concluded it's perusal he looked up at the reporter as though he expected a question.

"What have you to say about it?" was the reporter's query.

"Nothing; I don't care to criticize it. The letter sent me from California was undoubtedly written for the purpose of entrapping me. In a few days I expect to be in a position to in which the affair was planned, and the identity of the persons concerned in it. The efforts which are being directed to the discovery of the tricksters were instigated by me, and I think I shall succeed in making everything plain."

"At your interview with Secretary Bayard this morning did you discuss the matter?"

"Oh! yes," replied Lord Sackville, "naturally enough we alluded to the matter, but not at any length."

"Did Secretary Bayard intimate to you this morning the publication of his views as an official matter?"

"I did not know," said the diplomat, "that he had made public any official utterances, but," he continued with suggestive emphasis, "I understand that this published statement which you have shown me has met with the approval of others as prominent politically, or more so than the secretary of state." This was understood to mean that the President had sanctioned the secretary's action. "This matter has annoyed me," said the minister, "but only to a trifling extent, I have however, except that I was trapped. This affair reveals to me a new phase in the ways of the American politician—ways that in this instance are distasteful to me. In other American ways I delight, but I would like to be excused from having anything to do with politics in the United States."

It was a matter of common report tonight that the official statement made by Secretary Bayard to the press this afternoon was the result of a meeting of the cabinet. There were present at this meeting Secretary Bayard, Secretary Endicot, Secretary Vilas, and Attorney-General Garland. The conference was extended, and at its conclusion it was said that Bayard went over to the state department with the official interview sanctioned by the President in his hand.

SENATOR MORGAN'S OPINION.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Senator Morgan, a member of the senate committee on foreign relations, was a defender of the administration's foreign policy in the senate. The senator was at the White House yesterday and the letter of Minister West, which has just been made public, was discussed by him with the President. In an interview, the publication of which is authorized, Mr. Morgan says: "Minister West has probably as much knowledge as to the President's disposition in this matter as you have, or has any other private citizen. He has no more. The only thing he has to base an opinion upon is what the whole world has—the President's message. Not only has Mr. West no private information, but, as I know to be a fact, Mr. Cleveland has no private views on the subject that conflict with the clear utterances of his message. When Mr. West attempts to construe the President's attitude differently and to advise an American citizen as the disposition of his political franchise he is with the affairs of this country. His decisions are based on nothing, and his conclusions are absolutely false. I do not say that he does not believe in them himself. I say merely that he does not know Mr. Cleveland, and is deceiving himself. The President made an independent study of the Canadian question, not relying on anyone else for information, and in an incredibly short time he mastered it. He has astonished me by his quick grasp of the situation. He is the most perfect student of facts I have ever met. He has no imagination whatever. He grasps the facts and does not allow the shadows that surround them to delude him. So little partisanship entered into it, in his mind, that he could not be convinced that he would meet with

ANY PARTY OPPOSITION.

I may say with full knowledge that had the bill that passed the house promptly been adopted by the senate also, a proclamation requiring duties to be collected on goods in transit to and from Canada through the United States would have been issued. If the bill should pass after election, or at any time during his administration, he would enforce it at once. I think and believe the President thinks no true American can well be perfectly satisfied, or can feel that the work of our fathers is complete until we hold every right won by the Revolution and granted by the treaty of 1793, of which England has deprived us of the enjoyment. That would be the result, finally, of the enforcement of the President's policy. I believe it is the only truly American policy." The Senator thought there were some elements of treason, very small and insignificant treason to be sure, but something of that sort in an American citizen and a British Minister trying to effect the casting of a vote to the best interests of England. He did not think Mr. West would appreciate an impropriety like that. Senator Morgan thought there should be no official notice taken of his utterances, and he believed that the President thought so too.

WILL BE RECALLED.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The Washington correspondent of the Herald telegraphs this morning that it is understood that Lord Sackville West, British Minister, will be recalled because of his letter on American politics.

WHAT BLAINE SAYS.

Speaking at a mass meeting in Madison Square Garden, New York, on Thursday night, James G. Blaine, referring to the Sackville letter, said: "For the last four months the democrats have been denying and the republicans affirming that the first and last and constant wish of England was that Cleveland's administration should be sustained by the whole force and effect of English public opinion, and just when they had begun to make an impression upon the American people that such might not be the fact we have the letter of the British minister to Washington (groans) urging the re-election of Cleveland. And you can never interpret the letter until you know the letter that called it forth. To get the whole gist and meaning of the correspondence you must have both sides of it, and this letter from the British minister was called forth by a letter from California written by a native of England."

Blaine then read the letter, in which the writer states to Mr. Sackvillo West that his faith has been shaken by President Cleveland's administration, and writes to the British minister to dissolve his doubt, and Mr. West says to the California man that the recent proceedings of the President is only a little by-play which does not mean anything. He need not be afraid and all other English voters can go ahead with perfect confidence.

"Three ministers of the United States," resumed Blaine, "certainly two, have had their walking papers for offenses less than that, and to-night, if an American minister to England should write to an English voter advising him to support either side as one favorable to the United States he would be politely invited to sail home by the next steamer."

THE GAZETTE'S OPINION.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The St. James Gazette, referring to the letter written by Baron Sackville, British minister at Washington, to an Anglo-American resident of California, says: In the present position of American politics Sackville should not have written such a letter, even under the seal of privacy, but the fact that he acted in perfect innocence is clear. The idea which certain American politicians appear to hold, that England is reduced to help re-elect Cleveland, is a thorough mistake, and the personality of the future president is a purely domestic question.

LORD SALISBURY WRITES TO WASHINGTON.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—As yet no official communications have passed between the cabinet at Washington and London on the subject of Lord Sackville's letter. Lord Salisbury, however, has sent several direct dispatches to the British Minister at Washington deploring that official's indiscretion. It is expected here that the Washington government will make some demand on the foreign office with a view to counteract the injury which Lord Sackville's letter has presumably reflected upon Mr. Cleveland's prospects of re-election. Minister Phelps has already had an interview with Lord Salisbury on the subject.

FULL TEXT OF THE LETTER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The following is Minister West's reply to the letter from Pomona, Cala., signed Chas. F. Murchison, asking how the writer, who described himself as of English birth, should vote in the coming election.

"(PRIVATE.) BEVERLY, Mass.,
"Sept. 13th, 1888.

"SIR,—I am in receipt of your letter of the 4th inst., and beg to say that I fully appreciate the difficulty in which you find yourself in casting your vote. You are probably aware that any political party which openly favored the mother country at the present moment would loose popularity, and that the party in power is fully aware of this fact. The party, however, is, I believe, still desirous of maintaining friendly relations with Great Britain, and is still as desirous of settling all questions with Canada which have been unfortunately re-opened since the retraction of the treaty by the republican majority in the senate, and by the President's message to which you allude. All allowance must therefore be made for the political situation as regards the presidential election thus created. It is, however, impossible to predict the course which President Cleveland may pursue in the matter of retaliation, should he be elected; but there is every reason to believe that while upholding the position he has taken he will manifest a spirit of conciliation in dealing with the question involved in his message. I enclose an article from the New York Times of August 22nd, and remain, yours faithfully,

(Signed) "L. S. SACKVILLE WEST."

Ravages of Wolves and Coyotes.

HELENA (Mont.), Oct. 25.—Wolves and coyotes are doing great damage in the northern part of the state. Several hundred sheep and a number of colts have been killed by them during the past few days. Travellers have also been attacked. G. W. Jackson, a merchant of Helena, barely escaped with his life a few days since. Charles Adams was compelled to fly from the beasts on Monday night when they destroyed eighty of his thoroughbred bucks. One hundred and fifty sheep in one flock were killed on Tuesday night, and also thirty colts belonging to another ranchman. The bounty law was repealed at the last session of the legislature and wolves and coyotes have increased very fast since.

CABLE NEWS.

Sir Richard Webster Continues His Address Before the Parnell Commission.

The Russian Press Condemn King Milan and Sympathize with the Divorced Queen.

Emperor William Will Not Visit Madrid, Because He Would Have to Pass Through France.

The Parnell Enquiry.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—Sir Richard Webster continued his address before the Parnell commission to-day. In his opening remarks the Attorney-General intimated that it was his intention to deal at length with the violent orations delivered by the members of the national league in the County Clare during the year 1885, 1886 and 1887.

At this point Sir James Hannen, the presiding judge, asked Sir Richard if he did not think that he had already sufficiently indicated the line of argument which he intended to adopt.

Sir Richard said that he must deal with all those counties which had been picked out as affording the most striking proof of the character of the league's agitation. He, however, quite understood Sir James' hint and was desirous of adopting any special suggestion which might assist him in shortening his remarks. The Attorney-General finished his address on behalf of the Times. In his concluding remarks he asserted that the witnesses which he proposed to call in support of his case would be persons who had been actual participators in the outrages. They would tell the commission what monies had been paid them for their share of the work and how crimes had been arranged.

The commission then adjourned until Tuesday.

The Emperor Will not Visit Madrid.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—It has been decided that Emperor William's visit to Spain shall not take place until spring, but the probabilities are that it will not take place even then. The reasons for the postponement are that he could not take a direct land route to Madrid without traveling the entire length of France, which it obviously would be impossible for him to do, nor could he reach the Spanish capital by a sea journey without passing through the English Channel. Should he take the latter route he must necessarily, as a matter of decency, land in England. Not to do so would unquestionably increase the tension between the London and Berlin courts. While a visit to the British isles at this time would be quite as repugnant to his feelings, if not altogether as barren of enthusiasm, not to say fruitful of insult, as would his passage through France.

Indignant Americans.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—Americans in Paris are filled with indignation at the result of the Washington government not permitting its agents abroad to issue passports to travelling citizens of the United States. It is stated that refusal was ordered by Secretary Bayard at the time of the German frontier change last summer.

Bye-Election in Wales.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—The parliamentary election at Merthyr Tydvil to-day resulted in the return of Mr. Morgan by a vote of 7,149 to 4,956 for Mr. Griffiths. Both candidates are Gladstonians.

Free Fight in Paris.

PARIS, Oct. 26.—Six hundred anti-Boulangerists, headed by M. Lullier, provoked a free fight at a Boulangerist meeting to-night, in which many persons were injured. M. Lullier fired into the Boulanger crowd, and was so roughly handled therefor that surgical attendance upon him was necessary.

The Divorced Queen.

BELGRADE, Oct. 26.—The divorce obtained by King Milan causes the civil list allowance to Queen Natalie to stop. The Queen has, however, a large private fortune. It is reported Natalie will shortly go to St. Petersburg as the guest of the Czarina.

A Constitution Wanted.

BELGRADE, Oct. 26.—The King has issued a proclamation declaring a constitution necessary, and asking the members of all parties to unite in the work of its preparation and promulgation. Elections for the new Skupstchina will take place on December 2d, and that body will meet on December 13.

Russian Papers Condemn King Milan.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 26.—The press here denounce King Milan for the manner in which he procured a divorce from Queen Natalie, and declare the decree illegal. The Queen is urged to appeal to the heads of the Greek church to annul the decision of Metropolitan Theodosius.

Fifty Years in Politics.

BERLIN, Oct. 26.—Emperor William yesterday sent congratulations to M. De Giers, Russian foreign minister, who celebrated the 50th anniversary of his political life.

The Sultan Will Sign.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 26.—The Sultan has consented to sign the Suez Canal convention.

Result of the Ballot.

BUCHAREST, Oct. 26.—Yesterday's election in the second electoral college for the chamber of deputies resulted as follows: Forty-nine ministerialists, six liberals, one socialist, and six whose politics are unknown. A second ballot will be necessary in five districts.

FROM THE ORIENT.

(Special to THE COLONIST.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.—The steamship Arabic brought 202 Chinese. Following are the latest Chinese and Japanese advices: Rumors are prevailing in Yokohama that there has been an attack on the American residents in Canton, and that the American minister at Pekin has been insulted or assaulted. The rumor lacked confirmation.

Floods still devastating Northern China.

Ten prisoners in the Hongkong chain gang, although heavily laden with chains, managed to break loose, got on board a junk and sailed away. The guards pursued and fired on the prisoners, but were unable to recapture them. A ferry launch was passing off the scene at the time of the occurrence with the inspector of police on board. The inspector got the launch to pursue the junk with convicts, and succeeded in getting the prisoners to surrender after disabling their junk. One of the prisoners was found shot dead on the junk; three were found seriously wounded in the body; another was discovered next morning in the water beside the body of a turnkey, who was drowned while attempting to prevent the prisoners from hoisting sail.

HON. EDWARD BLAKE,

The Ex-Liberal Leader Will Arrive in Victoria To-Night,

And Will Remain in the City Until Tuesday Morning—He Declines to Deliver an Address Under any Consideration—Favorably Impressed With His Trip to the Coast.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 26.—Hon. Edward Blake reached here by special train from the east at 7 o'clock. He is accompanied by his two youngest sons and a secretary. He made a minute inspection of the track from Savonas to the Pitt River. To-morrow morning he will drive round the city and in the afternoon will go to Victoria, where he will remain over Sunday and Monday, and will return east on Tuesday. He regrets his inability to visit Westminster, and on no consideration will he deliver an address anywhere. He is looking well and expresses satisfaction with his trip. For ten days he has lived and travelled on the train, and, excepting coming out of Winnipeg, he has travelled entirely by daylight. He is most cordial to all who call on him, and is evidently favorably impressed with the coast province.

OTTAWA, October 26.—Commissioner Martin's statement at Winnipeg yesterday that he never asked the railway commission to stay its proceedings, stamps him as an unmitigated prevaricator. The Empire will publish to-morrow a telegram and letter from Martin to Hon. Mr. Pope asking him to confer with the Canadian Pacific for amicable settlement.

The sentence of Farley the Peterboro' murderer has been commuted to life servitude.

Judges Richardson, Rouleau and McLeod have been appointed legal experts for the territorial assembly.

Premiers Mowat and Mercier had a conference to-day relative to the settlement of the outstanding accounts of the two provinces.

Mercier interviewed Sir John yesterday, and wanted to know if the government would disallow the Jesuits compensation bill. The reply was that it was inexpedient in any case to informally state whether it was the intention of the government to allow or disallow any provincial act.

E. V. Bodwell of Victoria, and Inspector Mowat and wife left for home to-night.

MORE RETALIATION.

A Suggestion that China Should Pay America in Her Own Coin

If the Exclusion Bill is Enforced, by Cancelling All Treaties, Recalling All Chinese from the States, Expelling Americans From China, Cease All Relations and Diplomatic and Commercial Intercourse.

(Special to THE COLONIST.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.—The steamer Arabic, from Hongkong and Yokohama, arrived this afternoon. The Japan Gazette has a statement which was published in the Chinese Times, saying that great animosity is felt at Kwan Tung against the Chinese minister to the United States on account of his action in the matter of the treaty which was recently rejected by the Chinese government, and an angry mob tried to wreck the minister's house. The Chinese Times also contains a letter signed by a Pekin official, written just after the news had reached China that the United States senate had passed the Chinese exclusion bill: "If the obnoxious American bill should be carried into effect there will be no other course open for China, consistent with her dignity as a nation, than to adopt retaliatory measures by prohibiting citizens of the United States from coming to China. This will be by no means proportionate to the harm to Chinese interests in America; but it will have to be done in order to show that the Chinese can do something, and if this will have no effect in bringing the United States congress and United States government to reason and fairness, then it will be a question for China to consider whether it is not time for her to cancel her treaty made with that country, to recall her subjects from there, to expel all United States citizen from this country, and to cease all relations and intercourse, diplomatic and commercial, with that country.

The obsequies of Right Rev. Bishop Walls of the Episcopal diocese of Milwaukee, took place Thursday afternoon. The services were very impressive.

At the United States mint a large bar purporting to be gold, was received from the West. It resembled in shape the ordinary bars of that precious metal, and in appearance it looked something like it, but when placed in the hands of the assayer that official decided it was spurious and of little value. A bar of gold of the same size would be worth $35,000.

THE MANITOBA MUDDLE.

The Manitoba complication is a very singular one. The Northern Pacific and the Provincial Government are on one side and the Canadian Pacific is on the other. The Provincial courts have been applied to for an injunction and the whole case is before the Supreme Court. The Provincial Government have sworn in special constables to aid the Northern Pacific in laying the track of the Portage branch across the Canadian Pacific railroad, and the Canadian Pacific company have invoked the aid of the Dominion Government to keep off the Provincial Government trespassers. The troops, if they are called out, will be required to shoot down the Provincial Government's special constables as well as the Northern Pacific's tracklayers. The Canadian Pacific has placed a "killed" engine on the track and has fenced it in. The trespassers stole a march on them at one place and laid their track across the C. P. R., but the employes of that Company, as soon as they found out what was done, tore it up and placed a strong guard on the spot. The whole business is in a queer muddle, but the local authorities, in not waiting for the decision of the Supreme Court, are acting in the most foolish, as well as the most reprehensible, manner. If they do not respect the law of the land and the decision of the constitutional courts, how are they to expect the people to pay any regard to their authority, when it suits their whim or their convenience to treat it with contempt.

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

The Presidential election, it is admitted on all hands, will be an exceedingly close one. Although polling day is so near no one who has any regard for his reputation for discernment ventures to predict which party will gain the day. Everything, it is said, now depends upon New York city and no one knows how New York city will go. The New York Herald, which favors Cleveland, says: "The political currents of the canvass run strong and full, so evenly divided that a straw would change their course. This straw is the city of New York." Yet the Herald, having at its command so many sources of information, does not venture to predict to which side the "straw" will turn. A correspondent on the accuracy whose observations the Herald appears to place implicit faith, says: "The republicans are making a fierce, intelligent and so far a successful fight." He informs the Herald that they are making many converts among the farmers who have refused to support Cleveland on account of the stand he has taken on the tariff. The Democrats are, as he says, a lot of milk-and water jackanapes who let their enemies scoop everything. There are one or two exceptions, but on the whole the New York Democrats are conducting the campaign badly. "You can make up your mind," he continued, "that unless some extraordinary change occurs between now and November 6, Harrison will go down to High Bridge with something like 70,000 plurality. If New York city can overcome that Cleveland is all right; if not he will have to pack up and come back to Buffalo." This, considering that New York is more than ever the pivot state is bad news for the Democrats. Governor Hill who has been stumping it in Indiana declares that that state is "all right" for Cleveland, but every one who has had anything to do with an election campaign knows what such assurances are worth. The Republican managers in Indiana are confident of its giving a large majority for Harrison. The mugwump vote is still pretty solid for Cleveland. Carl Schurz has written a letter in which he argues strongly for his re-election, and we read of other influential men who were staunch Republicans in Lincoln's and Grant's time doing their best to secure the return of Mr. Cleveland. But Republicans are working hard to secure his defeat. They have plenty of money and are not at all scrupulous how they use it. The tariff issue if it has gained Mr. Cleveland some friends has raised against him a host of enemies, many of whom have a great pecuniary interest in keeping the tariff as it is. These men, no matter to what side they may have formerly belonged, will work hard and spend money liberally to secure a victory for the Republicans. And the indications are at this moment that they will be successful. The protectionist phalanx is always most formidable. It never surrenders, and the army that has any chance of defeating it must be large, courageous, and well disciplined.

HOP CULTURE.

Harper's Weekly of the 20th inst. contains an interesting and instructive article on hop-picking in Puyallup. We find from it that hop culture in the valley of the Puyallup has, since 1882, been a profitable industry. Previous to that date the growers of hops in Washington Territory were not prosperous. Hops were a drug in the market and it did not pay to cultivate them. But the failure of the crop in Europe caused the price to spring up and put new life in the hop ranchmen. The cost of raising hops in Puyallup is from eight to ten cents a pound and the selling price is from twenty cents and upwards. An acre of good land yields from fifteen hundred to twenty hundred pounds. This gives a net profit of from $150 to $180. A hop farm in that happy valley then of twenty acres yields its owner a snug income of between $3,000 and $4,000 a year. As a matter of fact many of the owners of hop farms in that valley have become rich beyond the dreams of avarice. "Individual crops," the writer in Harper says, "that year (1882) brought from $10,000 to $60,000, and in one instance, at least, a grower sold his hop harvest for $100,000." If hops can be successfully grown in Washington Territory what is there to hinder their being profitably cultivated in British Columbia? The difference of climate is hardly, if at all perceptible, and the soil is as good here as there. Great difficulty is found on the other side to get laborers at the hop-picking season. The difficulty would be considerably less here. The hop grows luxuriantly on this Island and why does not some enterprising agriculturist who has sufficient capital embark in the business? Surely an industry that pays well a few miles from here where the conditions are as nearly as possible the same, ought to pay here if carried on in the right way. To attempt the cultivation of hops as a crop without sufficient knowledge and complete apparatus would be to court failure. But a ranch here cultivated and equipped as a ranch is in Puyallup could hardly fail to succeed.

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE SHIELD.

Fourth of July orations in the United States have become proverbial. They have given their name to a peculiar style of oratory. The orators consider that they have licence to indulge in unlimited brag and bluster, and it must be confessed that they generally make good use of the privilege accorded to them by custom. The staple of Fourth of July speeches is extravagant praise of everybody and everything connected with the great American Republic. Commencing with the Pilgrim Fathers and ending with the great men of the speaker's party, all eminent Americans are mentioned in terms of fulsome eulogy. American institutions are described as the best and purest that the world has ever known, and the achievements of the American people in peace and in war are depicted in the most glowing colors. And it must be admitted that the citizens of the United States have much to be proud of. In a wonderfully short space of time they have created out of what might before-hand have been considered not the most promising materials, a great nation. Their country possesses, it is true, great resources but credit must be given them of having developed them in a way that is truly wonderful. At the time of the Revolution if anyone had predicted that in less than a century the thirteen weak and scattered colonies would develop into the greatest republic that the world has ever seen, he would be looked upon as an enthusiastic visionary or as a man of disordered imagination who would most likely end his days in a lunatic asylum. No one in those days could foresee the wonderful progress that the infant republic would make in a comparatively few years. Who at that time would be so bold as to predict that rich and populous cities would spring up in what was then an almost unknown wilderness, that the young nation would spread from ocean to ocean, and that flourishing states would be established on the shores of the Pacific. It is no wonder that the Fourth of July orators looking back and seeing all that the American people have done and contemplating the degree of national greatness they have attained, transcend the bounds of moderation. It is easy to understand why on the anniversary of the Declaration of Independence they would not be disposed to deepen the shadows of the picture they were painting, and why they should carefully keep out of sight the evils that existed among them, many of which were the outcome of their extraordinary prosperity. While dwelling with satisfaction on the virtues of the citizens of the Republic, past and present, they were naturally reluctant to remind their hearers of their faults, their vices, and their mistakes. Such a reminder might have been useful and even necessary, but the orators generally could not find it in their hearts to depart from the eulogistic strain in which they began. But an orator did now and then consider it his duty to warn his audience against the corruption which he saw creeping into the state. Among these was Col. P. Dolon. He saw that although there was much in the history and present condition of the United States of which its citizens had reason to be proud there was also much which it became them to regard with shame and confusion of face. He had the moral courage to tell his audience of these things in the plainest terms. He showed them from history that while republics were poor, and exercised the civic virtues they made progress both morally and materially, but when "lucre, lust and license crept in their downfall began." He then went on to make an application of his text, which must have caused many of his hearers to shudder. He said:—

"Our success has amazed the world; wealth has poured in upon us like a golden flood; the wildest madness of luxury and profligacy has swept over us, and today the country reeks with the lawlessness and iniquity, the dread precursors of decay. The whole continent and government seems honey-combed with rottenness. Monstrous wrongs and abuses have entrenched themselves in the sacred citadel of the republic. Its deepest foundations in the hearts and confidence of the people are shaken. Giant corruption, like the unclean beast, Abomination of Desolation, in prophetic vision, perches on our holiest altars and bespatters with its ulcerous filth the robes of our priests, the togas of our senators and the ermine of our judges. From highest to lowest, from presidents, senators and cabinet officers to dog law legislators, capital locators and cross roads town councilmen, no class or position is clear of hideous suspicions and imputations. Officers, laws, verdicts of juries and decisions of courts are as open and notoriously marketable as peanuts in a peddler's tray. Congress and senates have been bought up like scabby cattle in stalls; and giant rings, headed by such lineal descendants of Kydd, Lafitte and Sixteen String Juck as Jay Gould have pillaged the people of annual millions and ten of millions. Empires of public lands and money have been voted away by bright-bought renegades to bands of organized pirates, compared with whom the famous Forty Thieves of Oriental story would be exemplary Christian gentlemen. Our governmental banditti have perpetrated railroad grabs, army bill steals, river and harbor gouges, Navy Department piracies, Indian supply robberies, star route pick-pocketries, Custom house swindles and frauds—steals everywhere, in everything from the White House vestibules to the last moonshine still house in the backwoods, until no one would be surprised if they should steal the Presidency and the Government itself. Two hundred and thirty million dollars of official defalcations and embezzlements in the last fifteen years tells, trumpet-tongued, an appalling story of public rottenness and wrong; and nearly a hundred million dollars a year of swindling business failures echo the shameful tale in private life. Senators become millionaires in ten or twenty years on salaries of five thousand a year, while they annually spend from ten to fifty thousand; and then with their ill-gotten gains brazenly push themselves for the Presidency. That grandest office on the globe, with its vast power and patronage of its hundred thousand appointments, is used as a mere engine to promote partisan success and personal ambitions. Jobbery, robbery, rings, combinations, bargains and sales are the rule in every political movement, from nominating a President to locating a clapboard capital or lunatic asylum. Mighty monopolies, built up by bribery and scoundrelly lobbies, by their ruthless exactions incite communism and socialism. The suffrage, the holiest right of freemen, is debased; and votes, oaths, honor and decency are staple articles of barter and trade. The whole land is deluged with infamy and sin. Every newspaper press groans beneath the burden of its daily record of crimes. The very lightnings themselves have grown weary of flashing abroad the never-ending, sickening, wire-corroding details of outrages and horrors for which the vocabularies of pandemonium, a generation ago, furnished no name."

This is a fearful indictment, and the worst of it is that no citizen of the United States, let him be ever so patriotic and ever so proud of his country, can say that it is untrue. Like him we grieve to admit that there is too much truth in what Col. Donon said. It is with the deepest regret that we see corruption becoming so prevalent in the United States. The American people are trying the experiment of popular government for the whole world. Their success means the success of self-government everywhere, and their failure will crush the hopes of peoples struggling to be free in every region of the earth. The lover of freedom, to whatever nation he may belong, who rejoices in the prospect of the downfall of the American Republic, is both narrow-minded and short-sighted. The people of the Empire of Great Britain and the United States may be said to hold freedom in trust for all the nations of the world.

THE RAILWAY WAR.

Excitement at Fever Heat---Threats of Lynching Supt. Whyte.

The Military in Readiness to Prevent a Conflict—The Canadian Pacific People Tear Up the Track Put Down by the Northern.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 26.—The excitement over the trouble between the Manitoba government and the C. P. R. continues unabated. A serious conflict between the special police on both sides was only prevented yesterday by the action of the provincial courts in granting the Canadian Pacific another injunction against the government. The people are loyal to the provincial courts but against the Dominion. The feeling is decidedly hostile. The Canadian Pacific was outwitted by the government last night, when the latter effected a crossing over another branch of the transcontinental line, which had to be crossed in order to reach Portage La Prairie. The Canadian Pacific people, however, 400 strong, succeeded in tearing up the track. To-day the latest injunction case will be settled. R. Whyte, representing the C. P. R. here, says he can raise more men than Manitoba, and that 5,000 armed followers of the Canadian Pacific can be massed here in a few hours.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 26.—The government railway employees effected a crossing of the Glenboro branch on Wednesday night but the track was promptly torn up by the C.P.R. last night. The Northern Pacific made an attempt to put in a diamond at Morris, but Supt. Whyte was on hand with a force of 300 men and built a strong fence over the line. The excitement at Morris is at fever heat, and the lynching of Supt. Whyte was threatened. The second injunction comes up for hearing to-day.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 26.—4:00 p. m.—The railway question is hanging in an unsettled state. The injunction is being argued this afternoon before Judge Killam. If the judge dissolves the injunction, the Northern Pacific will attempt a crossing almost immediately. Strong resistance from the C.P.R. is certain until the question is decided by the Supreme Court. The military are in readiness to prevent any conflict. If a collision occurs the Northern Pacific will be the aggressors. The C.P.R. is well prepared to offer almost formidable resistance and to thoroughly protect their rights and property. The judge's decision is expected to-morrow morning.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

The Manitoba Free Press gives the following particulars of the difficulties between the Canadian Pacific and the province:

On Saturday afternoon two opposing forces faced one another at the crossing of the Portage line with the Canadian Pacific, and nothing but the non-arrival of the track-layers at the point where the trouble exists, prevented a collision which might have been fatal to some in its immediate effects, and would certainly have led to very disastrous results in the future. But the difficulty still remains unsolved; both sides appear equally determined; and only time can tell whether a peaceable solution to the imbroglio will be reached.

On Saturday morning it was rumored throughout the town that a train-load of special constables intended going out in the afternoon to protect the track-layers in laying their track across the C. P. R. Southwestern line. The track-laying gangs worked all Friday night; and it was stated that by Saturday afternoon at four o'clock, the track-laying wo ld be up to the crossing; and a start was to be effected from the Water street station at half-past three. The news created great excitement and numerous citizens donned their war-paint. When Chief Clark, of the provincial police, entered the city police station at one o'clock to swear in the necessary special constables, he found many prominent citizens ready and willing to act in that capacity, in order to show their sympathy with and approval of, the determined attitude assumed by the government. In all

FIFTY-THREE SPECIAL CONSTABLES WERE SWORN IN.

The cars, which were four in number, were filled to the doors by others who, though not special constables, were going out to see the fun and to take a hand in if necessary. Those present included representative citizens from every profession and walk of life. As an emphatic popular protest against the action of the Canadian Pacific it was a decided success; but in point of work accomplished it was a distinct failure.

This special train, with nearly three hundred on board, left about half past three. The junction of the main line of the Northern Pacific was soon reached and the train was switched off on the newly laid line. After proceeding about a mile the train stopped, orders having been given that the cars should not be taken within a mile of the scene of trouble; and the construction train, which was down the line about three-quarters of a mile, was whistled to, to come and take the warriors bold to the scene of action. The crowd poured out of the cars. A mile or so off the derailed engine blocking the line could be seen; and on either side of it two wreaths of smoke curling up over the scrub bushes along the track, made known the presence on the track of two live engines. Evidently excepting the special police. As the construction train was slow in coming down, a hundred or so walked up the track to the crossing. The two lines cross about a mile from the St. James bridge. The obstruction consists of an engine which is placed straight across the dump of the Portage branch, immediately alongside of the main line of the Canadian Pacific. In addition there was to the right of the dump on the main line an engine with a tender attached with steam up, and to the left there was another "live" engine on the main line with five cars attached. Four of these cars were filled with working men from the Canadian Pacific shops, armed with pickaxes, while Superintendent Whyte's private coach brought up the rear. In it were Superintendent Whyte, generalissimo of the Canadian Pacific forces, Mr. E. P. Leacock, commissioner in ded. pot., and J. P., representing the dignity of the law, and G. H. Campbell and T. E. Nixon, also J. P.'s, who were satellites to the greater representatives of the law. There was telegraphic communication from the car with the city, and the main telegraph line of the company, and Mr. Whyte was keeping the operator busily at work, communicating, no doubt, with Van Horne, the instigator of the trouble, who was keeping his own precious carcass

OUT OF DANGER.

The men in the cars had all been sworn in as special constables. The men in the shops were notified that they were expected to protect the property of the company; and it is said they were told, almost directly, that any that would not go out to the crossing and fight the battles of the company could get out. They were promised double pay for all the time they were absent for this purpose. By this means some 200 or 250 men were got together, but the majority of them went unwillingly.

The two forces did not keep rigidly apart. There were many who knew one another and they mixed together a good deal; and notwithstanding the serious nature of the business which they were on, the cracking of jokes went industriously on. Many of the Canadian Pacific men admitted that they did not want to fight, recognizing that their interests were all in favor of the crossing of the track by the Northern Pacific; but their bread and butter depended upon their presence there, and they had therefore to be present. The citizens, on the other hand, meant business; not even in the face of the large did they shew

ANY SIGNS OF WEAKENING.

Having put their hands to the plow they were determined to see the matter through to the finish, and announced candidly that when the track reached the point where the obstruction was placed they would make at least a brave attempt to clear the way. Chief Clark, of the provincial police, had general charge of the undertaking. All the members of the cabinet, who were at present in the province, were there. Chief McRae, with five other members of the city police force, were also there. The first thing that Chief Clark did was to serve notices on all the Canadian Pacific police that their appointments as provincial police had been cancelled. They were promptly sworn in again as special constables by Mr. T. Nixon.

The outlook was decidedly ominous. Nearly two hundred men were standing around on the dump with their hands in their pockets, awaiting the arrival of the track-laying before making an assault on the enemy's camp; while a still larger force sat in the cars on the Canadian Pacific line ready to repel such an attack.

What averted a collision, and probably bloodshed, was the slowness of the track-laying gang. When the provincial forces reached the ground they found nearly a mile of track still to be laid; they waited until 6 o'clock and the track was still half a mile off. They could do nothing unless the track was completed, as the tackle with which they intended to lift the dead engine could only be utilized with the help of a locomotive, and it was evident that it would not be completed until long after dark. The Canadian Pacific about half-past five began attaching hose to their "live" engine for the purpose of

on the Provincial force. The employment of this barbarous weapon of warfare was denounced as dastardly and excited much wrath and hostility. But when darkness fell the track was still several hundred yards down the dump, and there was nothing to do but to beat a retreat and leave the foe in possession of the field. The construction train bore them to the regular train and at a quarter to seven they were again in the city. It was a pretty angry crowd that alighted on the Water street platform. They were not at all pleased at having been taken out there before there was any use for their services, and the tenor of their remarks about the Canadian Pacific and their threats as to what they would do later on would not have been reassuring to the C. P. R. authorities had they been able to hear them.

Both forces regard themselves as guardians of the peace, and both have been regularly sworn in as special constables. It is said that the Government intend suspending the commission of every J. P. in the Province, and in this way the Canadian Pacific will not be able to have on the ground a force of regularly constituted policemen. The Government are, however, keeping their views and intentions to themselves; and only the future can tell what the next act in the drama will be. Meanwhile the military are holding themselves in readiness for an emergency and three hundred Canadian Pacific men are on the watch at the crossing.

Praiseworthy.

NOT A PIMPLE ON HIM NOW

Bad with Eczema. Hair all gone. Scalp covered with eruptions. Thought his hair would never grow. Cured by Cuticura Remedies. Hair splendid and not a pimple on him.

I cannot say enough in praise of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. My boy, when one year of age, was so bad with eczema that he lost all of his hair. His scalp was covered with eruptions, which the doctors said was scald head, and that his hair would never grow again. Despairing of a cure from physicians, I began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and, I am happy to say, with the most perfect success. His hair is now splendid, and there is not a pimple on him. I recommend the CUTICURA REMEDIES to mothers as the most speedy, economical, and sure cure for all skin diseases of infants and children, and feel that every mother who has an afflicted child will thank me for so doing.

MRS. M. E. WOODSUM, Norway, Me.

A Fever Sore Eight Years Cured.

I must extend to you the thanks of one of my customers, who has been cured, by using the CUTICURA REMEDIES, of an old sore, caused by a long spell of sickness or fever eight years ago. He was so bad he was fearful he would have to have his leg amputated, but is happy to say he is now entirely well—sound as a dollar. He requests me to use his name, which is H. H. CASON, merchant of this place. JOHN V. MINOR, Druggist, Gainsboro, Tenn.

Severe Scalp Disease Cured.

A few weeks ago my wife suffered very much from a cutaneous disease of the scalp, and received no relief from the various remedies she used until she tried CUTICURA. The disease promptly yielded to this treatment, and in a short while she was entirely well. There has been no return of the disease, and CUTICURA ranks No. 1 in our estimation for diseases of the skin.

Arbor Day At Vancouver.

Arbor Day was quietly observed at Vancouver on Thursday. The day was proclaimed a civic holiday, and several of the citizens carried out with energy the object for which the day was devoted. The civic authorities planted about fifty shade trees on Westminster avenue, the first tree being placed by Major-General Clerk.

The Moody Sermons.

Acting upon the suggestion of the managers of the Moody evangelical meetings, an extra number of copies have been printed of the past four issues of THE COLONIST. They contain full reports of Mr. Moody's addresses, and all desiring to secure copies for mailing to friends, or for reference, can secure them at this office.

The China Mail.

The greater portion of the China mail from this province comes from Victoria, and yet there is no authentic guide as to when the steamer will sail. In consequence, merchants frequently are too late in posting letters. An announcement through the press of the date of sailing should be made. It would cost but little, and would prove of public benefit.

The Vintners.

The licensed victuallers of Victoria held a meeting yesterday afternoon in the old board of trade rooms, corner of Langley and Yates streets. The following officers were elected: Geo. Fairbrother, president; Joseph Lowen, vice-president; C. N. Gowen, secretary; Frank Sehl, treasurer. Directors: W. McNiffe, W. Jensen, S. Clay, W. Harrison and W. Croft. It is the intention to incorporate the society. About fifty members were present.

Death of Mrs. H. G. Walker.

The friends of Mrs. Henry G. Walker will regret to hear of that lady's death, which occurred on Thursday night at 11 o'clock. She had been an invalid for some time, and her demise was not unexpected. The deceased lady was aged 33 years, and was greatly esteemed by all who knew her. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of Capt. Revely, Saanich road, and at 2:30 from St. John's Church.

Checked In Time.

Dr. Renwick, who has just left the city on a short trip to Yokohama, has earned a rest after an anxious two months, during which time he has done duty as acting health officer. It may not be generally known that an outbreak of smallpox was threatened, and only Dr. Renwick's prompt and determined action in recognizing and isolating the first case, seconded by the vigilance of Mr. Blake, the able sanitary inspector, checked and stamped out what might have resulted seriously.

Death of a Pioneer Resident.

Patrick Gilligan, an old resident of Victoria, died at St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday morning. Deceased was a native of Ireland, and was aged 55 years. He was formerly proprietor of a saloon on the corner of Store and Cormorant streets, but for several years past took contracts for city work. He leaves a family of several sons and daughters to mourn his loss. The funeral will take place this morning from the residence, Kane street, at 8:45, and from St. Andrew's pro-Cathedral at 9 o'clock.

A Fine Painting.

Jos. Sommers has on exhibition in his show window a remarkably clever oil painting by Mr. S. Maclure. The painting, which is in white and black, shows that the artist is making good use of his time. His latest productions exhibit steady improvement on former examples of his art which have been on exhibition. The scene represented is located on the Fraser river a short distance below Langley, and the placid waters of the river and the mountain scenery in the background are painted in a manner both spirited and faithful to nature.

The Provincial Land Sale.

Mr. Byrnes, the auctioneer, who conducted the sale of provincial lands on Tuesday and Wednesday, states that about $70,000 was realized by the sale for the provincial treasury. The lands in the neighborhood of the North Arm road, and distant 2½ miles from Vancouver city, realized an average price of $14 an acre. Although the attendance on the second day of the sale was not as large as that on the preceding one, the prices obtained were a little higher. The lots withdrawn from sale will be disposed of at some period next spring.

The Maude Arrives from Massett.

The steamer Maude, Capt. Barry, arrived from Massett and way ports at 11 o'clock last night, with a cargo of oil from Skidegate, in barrels, and about fifty tons of coal from the anthracite mine. Mr. J. Tolmie returned on the Maude, a couple of passengers were taken on at Bella Bella and J. S. Jacobson, a trader on Queen Charlotte Island, also came down. There were only two men working on the mine, and one of these, Thos. Shoal, died of brain fever the day before the Maude arrived at Massett. The steamer Falcon and consort were passed at Bella Bella. The Cariboo Fly was still in the same position on the rocks when the steamer passed, and had apparently suffered no further damage.

"His Natural Life."

The Maubury-Boyd company played to a fair house at The Victoria last evening. The piece presented was "His Natural Life," a drama of the sensational order. The lateness of the steamer interfered very much with the setting of the special scenery, but the spectacular effects were cleverly puton and much approved. The plot contains several very striking situations and the principals were at times loudly applauded, and a couple of recalls made. Mr. Maubury is a finished actor and interpreted the character with infinite credit. Miss Boyd did not have a great deal to do, but was graceful and pleasing. The support was good, and though preparation was hurried, the play moved well and gave general satisfaction.

The company left this morning for Vancouver, where they play to-day and Monday, returning and playing in The Victoria on Wednesday evening. The spectacular melodrama of "Passion's Slave" will be presented.

MOODY'S FAREWELL.

The Last Meeting Well Attended and Great Good as a Result—The Bismarck of Babylon.

You who have been attending the morning meetings know we have been at work in the four Gospels, and I want to take up more of that work to-day. The key to the Gospel of Luke you will find in the 8th chapter. The last words that fell from His lips to His disciples were, "You shall receive power from your God on high." The Church in all ages that sends out missionaries prospers. A good thing for the Church to do is to read Christ's words about missions in the ten great mission sermons—five by Peter, one by Stephen, and four by Paul. I want to show you what kind of sermons turned the world upside down. The best witness is he who tells not what he believes, but just what he knows. To the beggar who wanted money Peter says, "Such as I have give I unto thee. Christ said greater works than I have done shall ye do, because I go unto the Father." We are witnesses; we saw His life, we saw His death, and we saw Him after his resurrection. What we should do is to go out and publish it. We are witnesses, we must have a clean record so we can give a ringing testimony.

Peter, filled with the Holy Ghost, said, "In the name of Jesus Christ this man has been made whole." They forbade Peter to preach any more in that name. You may preach in the devil's name or any other name, but not in His name.

People in this town talk about discouragement. When Jesus Christ died there was but a little handful. They preached a glorified Christ. Within fifty days after the death of Christ thousands were converted because these men had power. If some of your preachers would get out on the corner of the streets and preach it would turn this city up side down. If you had every drunkard in this town in this house and we outside praying, wouldn't it be a good thing?

Which of the prophets have not your fathers persuaded? Stephen said, "Behold I see the Heavens open and the Son of Man standing on the right hand of God." When Christ went up on high He said He lead captivity captive. We are witnesses of all things which he did in the land of the Jews and Jerusalem.

Paul's first sermon, the same old doctrine with the same old power, preached forgiveness of sin. Nearly the whole city came to hear the name of God. Let the name of God go home with power. Ministers of to-day are afraid of offending cultured people; never give the naked Gospel, never mention Hell. They are not like vulgar common people, they want a different Gospel. If you preach this word with God, He will give results. Preach the word in season and out of season, and you will get converts.

Ventilate your churches. Don't have bad air. People listening must have fresh air. The Bible God's people carry around in their heads they should have in their hearts. Take these little books with notes and read one chapter each day and study it. Stand firm, go on making disciples.

It was stated in the papers that one man who had "got religion" during the services at the rink had gone crazy. Like Nicodemus he began to make restitution, and the people cried out that he could not be in his right mind. His brother, reading the articles in the papers, came from the other side to find out if it was true. And it was. No doubt very many in Victoria would be glad if others would go crazy in the same way. I believe this man will become an ornament and a model for his fellowmen.

At the after meeting requests were made for prayer for fathers, mothers, husbands, sons, sisters, children and friends.

THE LAST MEETING.

The magnificent union choir which has so nobly done its share in making the Moody meetings attractive, never sang better than they did last evening when Mr. Moody bade adieu to the host of friends he has made during his stay among us. The opening service of song and prayer was solemn, grand and impressive, and when Mr. Moody rose to address the immense audience which filled every nook and crannie of the building, he was greeted with the very best of attention.

Before entering on his theme, Mr. Moody referred briefly to the grand work being accomplished by the Y.M.C.A. all over the continent, in every city of the United States or Canada. He told of the trials which are sure to meet every young man when first he enters a great city, how little is done by those who profess to serve Christ to provide healthy, enjoyable employment for his leisure hours, and how so many alluring temptations are sure to meet him at every step. Of late years the Y.M.C.A. has done much to help the young men of every city where an association is in existence. They provide an attractive place for the young man to spend his evenings, pleasantly and profitably. They have officers who are always ready to be his friends. In countless ways they are an assistance to him and they are the best means that can be employed to counteract the baneful influences of the saloons and the billiard halls. The cry that the associations were too expensive is a very misleading one. The money spent brings a grand return. Mr. Moody asked that all contribute liberally to the support of the Victoria branch of the Y.M.C.A.

A collection was taken up and a considerable amount realized, which will be used to further the good work of the Association.

After a second season of prayer and praise, Mr. Moody said:

Last night you will remember I was speaking to you about the Prodgial Son. I want to-night to talk to you about an entirely opposite character. In the days of Nebuchadnezzar we read that he went up with a great army from Babylon to Jerusalem, took the Holy City and returned to Babylon with 10,000 captives, among them four young men who had religion. A religion that was worth having. A religion that would bear transplanting. A great many men can't bring their religion with them wherever they go. If they are coming west they loose it on the other side of the Rockies. These four young men had been converted through and through. I don't know under whose preaching. It may have been Jeremiah's. They had not been in Babylon very long when a great temptation came to them. The first temptation is where men generally give way. Ten men are ruined by yielding to the first temptation to one who withstands the first and afterwards has not the courage to stand firm. It is the first trial that tests a man's courage most. Their first temptation was a hard one and it came very soon. Nebuchadnezzar sent to them and his orders were that they were to be educated at the best college in the land; that they were to eat the same food that was served on the king's table and drink the same wines that the king himself drank.

You would think the great honor would turn their heads. They were to be treated to the same food and drink as the king himself. But Daniel told the messenger of the king that he and his companions could not eat the meats, and drink the wine of the king. He asked that they be given pulse to eat and water to drink. For Daniel had purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself, and to eat the meat and drink the wine that had been offered to idols would be defilement to him. Daniel's first action was the keynote of his character. He took his stand on principle and stood firm. A good many of the compromising Christians of to-day would have said to Daniel, "Throw away your scruples; remember you are not in Jerusalem now. If the king was to hear of you, refusing to accept his kindness, he would probably be angry and it would not be any the better for you. Remember you are not your own master just now." Many people, Christians, too, seem to think that the old phrase, "In Rome, do as the Romans do," is taken from the Bible. I have met people who smilingly said so. No doubt the compromising Christians of Daniel's day advised him when in Chaldea to do as the Chaldeans. They would say, "You had better give in on this point, Daniel, or you'll get into trouble." Who dares to oppose the will of the King? But Daniel carried the point, however, and got his pulse and water, and he and his companions thrived and looked their best on it. Some men still appear to think that eating and drinking "the best," as they call it, is good for them. They seem to consider a big, red rose an ornament, and to think that they improve their complexion by filling themselves with whiskey and tobacco. Daniel having withstood his first temptation did not find the next so hard. It was not long before he rose in power and rank until he became the King's most trusted servant. He was the Bismarck behind the throne of the King of Babylon. The next incident in Daniel's life was when the officers of the King came to arrest him and take him to execution. He enquired what he had done, and the officers replied that the King had dreamed a strange dream and none of his wise men could tell him the dream or its interpretation. But I can tell him; and the reply of Daniel came as a pleasant surprise to the officers. That night Daniel and his three friends held the first prayer meeting. They asked God for guidance and then they slept. And while they slept God told Daniel in a dream what he should tell to King Nebuchadnezzar. In the morning he told the King his dream, and as he spoke the King remembered the vision that came to him, and he eagerly enquired, "And can you tell me the interpretation?" "I cannot, but my God can," answered Daniel, and before the King, who had probably never heard of God before, he stood up and unfolded to him the meaning of his strange dream. How the great and beautiful city should be overthrown and the kingdom pass into the hands of a power stronger but less beautiful, as the silver was stronger than the gold. Then it would pass to the Meads and Persians, and would then become part of the Empire of Rome. Then the kingdom would become divided into many parts, some strong, some weak. And all the time that these changes were going on, the great stone that was cut out of the mountain was growing larger and larger, until it swept all the kingdom away, and the everlasting Kingdom of God was established. When the king had heard his dream and the interpretation, he was greatly pleased with Daniel and exalted him and his three friends to the highest positions in the government. Do you think that if they had employed their time in hanging around the saloons and the billiard halls they would have been raised to their high position? Righteousness always exalts: sin always degrades. What we want to-day is more men who can say "no" or "yes" ot the right time and stick to it. Notice again, the faith of the young men soon had another test. The Lord tests all his children. Nebuchadnezzar built an immense graven image and sent out his royal proclamation that everyone should come to the unveiling or the dedication of it. And when the music sounded everyone was commanded to bow down to the graven image that had been set up. I don't know where Daniel was at the time. Probably he was out of the country on some important business. Anyway he wasn't there or you would have heard from him. But Daniel's friends were there and they could not bow down to the idol that the king had set up. The laws of God and King Nebuchadnezzar conflicted, and they had promised the God Most High to have none other. Some Christians would have bowed down and compromised with their conscience by saying to themselves that of course it was a mere form. They did not worship, of course. But these three young men avoided even the appearance of evil. When the music struck up, all the people fell down; all but a few enemies who were on the watch. Every real Christian has enemies. Woe to you if all men speak well of you! They were on the watch to see the three servants of God bow down and worship according to the King's decree. But they stood firm and straight. They had backbone that wouldn't bend. I like to see men with good backbone. The spies soon carried the news to Nebuchadnezzar that the three Hebrews would not bow down according to his decree. The King ordered them into his presence, and asked them if the report that had come to his ears was true. He then told them he would give them another chance, and if they did not bow to the image he had set up, asked them where the God was, that could deliver them from his vengeance. Shadrack replied firmly, resolutely, that he and his friends could not obey the order of the king. It was a surprise to the king to be defied, and not a pleasant one. He made preparations for putting the three brave men to a terrible death. He had them bound and cast into the fiery furnace, bound in all their clothes. Then looking into the furnace he saw four men walking about unharmed. The God of the Hebrews had joined them. They had stood up for Him and He had not deserted them. The king's decree again went forth, and this time it was that no man should speak a word against the God of the Hebrews.

To-day we want men most who are not afraid to stand to their convictions. What we want is men who will live up to the old Bible. Many a man is laughed out of his principles. Hosts of men give way to the first temptation. It was not very long before Nebuchadnezzar had another dream. This dream he remembered and he only wanted it interpreted. He called his wise men together but none could tell him what he wanted to know. Daniel came again. He told the king the meaning of his dream, and then he preached righteousness to him. Twelve months later and his kingdom departed from him. For seven years he wandered insane about the fields. Then he returned to his kingdom and his last proclamation shows that he had been born of God. I have no doubt that Nebuchanezzar, the first monarch of all the known world, walks the shining streets of Heaven to-day, won for the God of Heaven by the young man Daniel.

Fifteen years later Balshazzar, the warlike young king, had a grand feast. He sent for the gold and silver vessels from the temple and used them in prolonging the merriment of the feast. Suddenly a hand was seen writing in mysterious characters on the wall Balshazzar's doom. No one could read the strange writing. No uncircumcised eye can read the Lord's writing. Daniel was called again. He read it. That very night the Persian army took the city, and Darius ascended the throne, a conqueror-king. He kept Daniel in power, as he knew he was a man in whom he could trust. He made him the leading man in the kingdom, the Bismarck of Babylon. The governors were not satisfied. They had no chance to become rich through the abuse of their offices while Daniel was at the helm of the state. They schemed and planned for some way to get Daniel out of the way. They kept their purpose secret. They worked cunningly and finally the king, deceived by their flattery and falsehood, signed the decree that whosoever during thirty days worshipped any god but Darius the king, should be cast into the den of lions. And then the secret was one no longer. It was told everywhere. Someone came to Daniel with the news. Daniel, the grey-haired old statesman, whom all knew to go three times a day to his open window and pray with his face towards Jerusalem. His friends all came with their advice. If he would pray, not to pray out loud, to pray in secret, or at least put down the window. But Daniel would not deny his God in his old age. He prayed as before, three times daily. Lots of men to-day say they have no time for prayer, yet this man, really the king, prayed three times a day. And how the people must have watched to see if he would violate the law that was framed to ruin him. If there were newspapers in those days how the reporters would delight in taking his prayers down in full, and how the associated press would send the news all over that Bismarck had been caught praying, and would have to go to the lion's den. He prayed as before, and though Darius grieved that he had been entrapped he could not prevent his law from being carried into effect. Daniel went to the den of lions but not to death. God was with him and the mouths of the lions were closed. And how happy Darius was when in the morning he found the man of God unharmed. He was restored to his high position and his enemies put to the death. My friends, we separate to-night. In a few months and a few years the battle of life will be over. Will you stand up for God now. Stand up for your churches, your ministers, for any institution that is doing good in the world. You see men all around you going down to their graves, drunkards, gamblers, rogues. None of these can enter the Kingdom of God. My God help you to stand firm for Him. We want to-day men and women who have a purpose and stand by it. In those dark days for Daniel, not one in Heaven but looked down and smiled on him. Daniel dared to have a purpose. Young man rise to-night, ask God to take you by the hand and hold you up. What a grand thing if all here would rise and take a stand for God as Daniel did. What grand churches we would have. How you would close up the saloons, the billiard rooms, the dens of infamy, that are ruining our young men and woman. Take a stand to-night and stand firm.

Hundreds remained to the after-meeting and many found the Peace of God at the last of Mr. Moody's grand meetings. The revival services will be continued every day and evening. Mr. Studd remains with us to help on the good work during the coming week.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approaches are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly, and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption, and to the head causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.
